Of Special Interest...

June is the month of sunshine and outdoor fun. Here are three special events at Fort Mason offering unique, all-day entertainment for all ages while you soak up some sun!

Golden Gateway to Gems. The San Francisco Gem & Mineral Society Inc.'s 26th Annual Show presents gemstone carvings, intarsias, handcrafted jewelry, unusual stone boxes, and mineral specimens. Sat. & Sun., 6/9 & 10, starting at 10 AM. $1.50/$1.00 seniors. Pier II. 334-1063.

All Indian Arts Festival. Eagle Dancing by California Indian dancers, a Pow wow, traditional American Indian foods, and exhibits of jewelry, basketry and pottery are some of the marvels you will see. Fri.–Sun., 6/15–17, all day, Pier II.

Folk Music Festival. This annual event will feature many well-known local musicians playing old time, new time, work songs, play songs, children's songs and a variety of ethnic dances. Special appearance by Cousin Jack Franklin will delight all with his harmonica and guitar and animal balloons for kids. Sat. & Sun., 6/23 & 24, starting at 11 AM, free. 661-8930.

An Invitation to Our OPEN HOUSE

by Mary Cullinan

The melodious jazz of LISTEN, with Mel Martin, a Chinese lion dance demonstration, a yacht race . . . these are some of the events you will see at the Fort Mason Center gala Open House.

Before you leave home, clip out Margot Patterson Doss' column from the Sunday Chronicle-Examiner. Her map and instructions will lead you straight to Fort Mason. Our Open House will be a showcase of events and programs available at the Center. Come tour our buildings, meet the members of our organizations, and take part in some of our activities. Stop by to listen to some jazz or folk music, try your skill at jitterbug, or wander through art exhibits. It's all happening Sunday afternoon.

Activities

Come to Building 308 for the start of your tour. We'll give you a schedule of events and a map. You might head first to the book sale put on by the Friends of the San Francisco Library. S.F. Arts and Letters will present a special video program of interviews by Todd S. J. Lawson with Melvin Belli, Margo St. James, and other well-known San Franciscans. Western Public Radio will welcome visitors to its studios where staff will be conducting interviews and producing documentaries.

Unique art galleries will be open for you to wander through. If you've never stopped by Perception Gallery, come see the acrylic paintings by Darlene Berg. Graphic Artists Guild West will display an exhibit on the methods and effects of full-color printing. Visitors who want to try their hand at their own art creation can stop by ongoing art media workshops presented by the Center for Learning and Retirement.

Join Meristem's aikido classes from 12:30 to 1:30. Drop by the Marina Theatre: graduates of the Ensemble of Stanislavski Theatre Artists will present scenes from Arthur Miller's The Crucible at 1 PM. Then, at 3, they will perform improvisational scenes from audience suggestions. Plowshares Coffeehouse will be bursting with folk music all afternoon. If you're interested in lesser-known musical media, drop by Tom Nunn's demonstration of handmade original musical instruments.

New Restaurant

One of the best surprises is yet to come. Our new restaurant Greens, run by the Zen Center, will serve you pastries and coffee. This addition to the Center is one we've all been looking forward to eagerly: an oasis of fine foods and aesthetic delights. The transformed warehouse overlooking the waterfront is as full of visual pleasures as our art galleries—and we suspect you won't be able to turn down a cookie or a brownie.

Speaking of food, bring your own if you like and join our other visitors at picnic tables and along the waterfront for a late lunch or early dinner. A simple camembert with French bread, perhaps?

Whatever your interests, whatever your age, you'll find surprises and delights at our gala Open House. Join us on June 3rd.

It's time we got acquainted.

Mary Cullinan is Assistant Community Relations and Development Officer.

Watch for Margot Patterson Doss's Walk Through Fort Mason in the June 3 Sunday Chronicle-Examiner. Author of There, There and Golden Gate Park at Your Feet as well as many other well-known walking tours of the Bay Area, Margot has been a staunch supporter and friend of Fort Mason for many years. We're delighted that she's helping us to celebrate our Open House.

Thank You!
